GEORGE DIETZ;
FOREIGN POLICE CORRUPTION

Reference Dallas memorandum to [redacted] dated May 10, 1994. b7D

On December 9, 1993, GEORGE M. DIETZ, Jr., Real Estate Broker/Notary Public, DIETZ REALTY, Route 14 North, Spencer, West Virginia, was interviewed by Pittsburgh FBI, and provided the following information:

DIETZ advised he is the publisher of The Liberty Bell. His publication is distributed only by subscription except for a complimentary copy which he submits to the UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Sacramento, California. DIETZ stated he stays away from the radical fringes and does not believe in violence. He has been publishing The Liberty Bell publications since September 1, 1973.

✓ DIETZ described himself as an extreme conservative and anti-establishment. He stated he was a member of the Hitler Youth and that his father was an officer in the SS Corp in Germany. He stated that he came to the United States in 1957, and originally resided in New Jersey where he made a substantial amount of money in the real estate business. DIETZ stated he, thereafter, came to West Virginia and bought a large farm and began the publishing of The Liberty Bell.

The records of FBI, Pittsburgh show that a concerned citizen discovered two boxes of Neo-Nazi material in her son's room and indicated that the material apparently came from GEORGE DIETZ of The Liberty Bell in Reedy, West Virginia.

DIETZ is not currently the subject of FBI investigation.

No photo of subject available.

George P. Dietz, Dietz Realty, Main Street, Reedy, West Virginia, advised that he is the owner and publisher of White Power Publications at Reedy, West Virginia, in addition to being a real estate broker. In this business, he publishes a large amount of printed material, largely in the form of pamphlets, which information he distributes by mail throughout the United States and numerous foreign countries. George Phillip Dietz

During the interview with Dietz, he advised he was the owner and publisher of WPP, Reedy, West Virginia, in addition to being a real estate broker. He stated he published a large amount of printed material, mainly in the form of pamphlets which he distributed by mail throughout the United States and numerous foreign countries. He stated he did not maintain a list of recipients of his literature. He stated he did not have any supervisors or distributors of his literature and his publications were not sold through retail stores.

✓ Dietz stated he was in the publishing business for the purpose of publishing the truth about the Jewish conspiracy to control the nation and the world, and the Jewish instigation and furtherance of philosophy of communism. Dietz stated he was primarily interested in printing the truth about the Jewish situation in Nazi Germany. He stated it was completely false that Jews were exterminated by the Nazis.

Dietz continued that the Jews control not only the banking system but the entire monetary system in the United States and that Congress had unintentionally allowed this to happen, as well as having the Federal Reserve Bank to become a private Jewish bank. He stated the Jews controlled the Government of the United States, and its agencies, including the FBI. He advised he was glad the FBI did not send Jewish Agents to interview him, although he assumed the FBI would employ such persons. He advised he published a monthly magazine, "The Liberty Bell," in which he attempts to publish the truth about the matters referred to herein.

Dietz advised he resided in Germany during World War II and he was aware of the true situation that existed in Germany at that time which is contrary to information furnished by the Jews. He stated he left Germany in 1957, and subsequently moved to West Virginia from the State of New Jersey.

Dear [REDACTED]:

In accordance with our telephone conversation of last night, I am writing you to confirm clause (3) in our written agreement relating to Noontide's edition of my book entitled [REDACTED] Clause (3) reads:

[REDACTED] represents that, apart from his arrangements with HRP, he has not and, except under two contingencies to be stated, will not authorize any other party to publish the book in English for sale in the USA etc.. The two contingencies are (a) Noontide fails to publish the book before 1 July 1977 and (b) the Noontide edition becomes unavailable for sale to the general public for a period of six months or more. Under either contingency all relevant rights and options revert to [REDACTED]

In the agreement "HRP" is defined as the Historical Review Press of Richmond, England and "USA etc." as the USA, its territories and possessions, the Phillipine Islands, and Canada.

As I expressed to you over the phone, since the above quoted clause occurs in the written agreement between us, which is signed by both you and me, I see no point in writing this letter and repeating the terms that we settled on this past March. However I have complied with your request.

I was glad to learn from you over the phone that the book is now ready to go and that you are at last filling the orders that have been outstanding for so many weeks.

Very truly yours,

[REDACTED]

Dear [redacted]:

This is to inform you that we have received the 500 copies of the [redacted] that were shipped per boat.

However, there are three other items for your information and requiring your immediate attention:

- (1) On April 29, 1977 we forwarded to Prof. Butz the $1,200 as requested. (See enclosed copy of letter.)
- (2) We have not yet received the 200 copies of the [redacted] book per your invoice #76 dated March 8, 1977. Our understanding was that the parcel post shipment was to leave England the same time the boat shipment was. Please let us know when exactly the books were shipped.
- (3) For your letter of August 8, 1976 we understood that THE NOONTIDE PRESS was to be the "de facto main agent" for the United States. Needless to mention our surprise when Mr. George Dietz informed us in his letter of April 19, 1977 that he no longer needed to order the [redacted] book from THE NOONTIDE PRESS, since he had ordered from HISTORICAL REVIEW PRESS, and received, a "huge supply" and further quoting "that'll last me for a good while". Please confirm to us the date of shipment, and quantity, to Mr. Dietz.

We trust that you will comply with our request above and answer in your usual prompt manner. Your cooperation in this matter is appreciated.

Information concerning ad interim copyright

Ad Interim Copyright. The law provides that, as a general rule, books and periodicals in the English language must be manufactured in the United States to be protected under United States copyright law. One exception to this requirement is provided in the form of an "ad interim" copyright. Basically, ad interim copyright gives the owner protection for a 5-year term—with the possibility that, if an American edition is manufactured within the 5-year period, the copyright may be extended to the full term.

When to Use Form A-B Ad Interim. Form A-B Ad Interim is appropriate for English-language books and periodicals manufactured and first published outside of the United States—except works which qualify for full term protection under the Universal Copyright Convention, as explained below.

The Universal Copyright Convention (the "U.C.C.")

In General. The Universal Copyright Convention, an international treaty to which the United States is a party, provides another exception to the manufacturing requirements, and one which is much broader than ad interim copyright. Any work which qualifies, and which has been published with the copyright notice provided in the Convention, is completely exempted from the manufacturing requirements; full-term (28-year) copyright may be secured without the need of registration in the Copyright Office.

Works Protected Under the U. C. C. A work by a foreign author who is not domiciled in the United States, first published outside of the United States, is eligible for protection under the Universal Copyright Convention if its author is a citizen of a country which is a party to the Convention, or if the work was first published in such a country.

The U. C. C. Notice. The copyright notice prescribed in the Universal Copyright Convention consists of the symbol ©, accompanied by the name of the copyright owner and the year date of first publication. Example: © John Doe 1976. The notice must be located on the work in such a way as to give reasonable notice of the copyright claim.

Registration. Form A-B Ad Interim is not appropriate for works which qualify for protection under the Universal Copyright Convention. If registration for such works is desired, application should be submitted on Form A-B Foreign.

Statutory requirements for ad interim copyright

Time Limits for Ad Interim Registration. In order to secure ad interim copyright, it is essential that registration be made within six months of the date of first publication outside of the United States. This means that, without exception, all of the material described in the instructions on page 1 of this form—a properly completed application, copy or copies, and fee or catalog card—must be received in the Copyright Office before the six-month deadline. The date of publication is defined as "... the earliest date when copies of the first authorized edition were placed on sale, sold, or publicly distributed."

The Copyright Notice. No copyright notice is required on the copy or copies of books or periodicals sent to the Copyright Office for ad interim registration. However, the law requires that the notice appear on all other copies brought into the United States. This notice shall consist of the word "Copyright," the abbreviation "Copr.," or the symbol ©, accompanied by the name of the copyright owner and the year date of publication. For books, the notice shall appear on the title page or verso thereof. For periodicals, the notice shall appear on the title page, the first page of text, or under the title heading.

Importation of Copies. The law permits the importation of 1,500 copies of works for which ad interim registration has been made. The Copyright Office will, in appropriate cases, issue an import statement to be presented to the customs officer at the port of entry.

Extension to Full Copyright Term. The ad interim copyright lasts for 5 years from the date of first publication abroad. The copyright may be extended to the full copyright term if an American edition of the work is manufactured and published during the 5-year period and the claim registered.

On January 12, 1978, the facts of this matter to date were discussed with Assistant United States Attorney WAYNE A. RICH, JR., Southern District of West Virginia, Charleston, W. Va. Mr. RICH advised that at this time he desired a laboratory analysis of the three books entitled [REDACTED] currently in the possession of the FBI to determine whether any substantial differences exist between them to indicate that Liberty Bell Publications is duplicating or publishing this book. Mr. RICH stated that at the conclusion of the FBI Laboratory analysis of these items, he would re-discuss this matter and render a prosecutive opinion at that time.

On 3/31/77, Noontide Press entered into a contract with [redacted] the author of the book entitled [redacted] concerning the rights to publish and distribute this book in the United States. On 11/17/77, the Noontide Press was issued an Ad Interim Copyright Registration Certificate, registration number A1 16130, concerning the book entitled [redacted]

b6

This book was originally published for sale in England on 5/14/76 by the Historical Review Press. The Noontide Press has subsequently learned that subject obtained copies of this book from the foreign publisher and is allegedly publishing and distributing this book in the United States without the authority of the author or Noontide Press. AUSA, Southern District of West Virginia, requested a laboratory examination of the enclosed books to determine whether there is any indication that subject is publishing this book. AUSA advised that he desires to know whether any substantial differences exist between these books to indicate that subject is possibly publishing this book.

REQUEST OF THE LABORATORY

The Document Section is requested to examine the enclosed books to determine the printing process utilized to publish each of these books; to determine whether these books originated from the same printing source; and to furnish any and all distinguishing characteristics (paper, type, etc.) between the enclosed books.
